

Of Friendships Everlasting

There comes a time in all our lives to put aside our grief
To find someone and hold them close, as it's a great relief
Confusion shreds one's mind apart when lacking one's control
The feelings told of blissful thought bring comfort to your soul
Together we will walk a path of help if I'm allowed
Hold you dear within my heart my love is but a shroud
If you allow, it covers you, protects you from the pain
Of others' hatred thrown at you, they hope that it will drain
That will within you that you have, it pulled to be so tight
Please understand if I'm not there I know you have the might
To brush aside their fits of rage with words of love and care
My dear I know this deep within to know without despair
I will not leave you, thought and mind but times there are for sure
Those lengths abandoned not for real our minds they must endure
You know within that we will talk, our hearts will meld as one
I am with you, you must be told our friendship's just begun
